ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT (EIA) STUDY AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT PLAN (EMP) FOR TUBUSSIS SMALL-SCALE MINING HOTSPOTS IN ERONGO REGION

Issues Raised at the Farm Tubussis Small-scale Mining Hotspot

Prepared For:

Ministry of Mines and Energy

Private Bag 13297

Windhoek

October 2020

1. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

1.1 Introduction

The study was subjected to a Public Participation Process (PPP) as defined in the Environmental Management Act, No. 07 of 2007 and EIA Regulations of February 2012.

1.2 Approach to the Public Participation Process

a) Site visits

The consultant conducted a site visit to the mining hotspots and interviewed small-scale miners that were found onsite. The consultant also interviewed the local Headman Mr. David Roman of the !Oe-#Gan Traditional Authority (TA) and some community members at Kudubis, Uigaran and Hobatre as well as some private Farm owners.

b) Stakeholders consultations

Stakeholders such as Government Ministries, Daures and Karibib Constituency Councilors, Erongo Regional Council, #Gaingu Conservancy, National Heritage Council, Namibia Association of CBRNM (NACSO and Erongo Region Small-scale Miners Association (ERSMA), were informed about the study through notification letters sent to them.

c) Interested and Affected Parties

Potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) were invited to register through newspaper advertisements that were published in two (2) local newspapers: New Era (24 & 29 September 2020), and The Namibian (25 & 29 September 2020).

The consultation period started from 24 September 2020 and ended on the 14 October 2020. This allowed a 21-day period for submission of comments as outlined in Section 3.4 (11) of the EIA Regulations of February 2012. The aim of these consultations was to introduce the study to relevant stakeholders and I&APs to solicit inputs.

1.3 Purpose of the IRR

The purpose of this report is to provide a summary of inputs, comments and questions that were received from the relevant stakeholders and the I&APS. These issues were incorporated in the Environmental Scoping report and the Environmental Management Plan (EMP).

2. ISSUES RAISED DURING THE CONSULTATION PERIOD

2.1 Issues raised during site visits

Issues Raised By	Issues and Concerns Raised
SSMs	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- SSMs usually experience problems with transporting gemstones. The police usually confiscate the gemstones/specimens if not accompanied with a permit and such permits are only issued in Windhoek.</li> <li>- It is suggested that transport permits should be made available locally i.e., at the local Police stations or at the Councilor's Office.</li> <li>- Some SSMs have been operating in the area for many years and are not aware of the MC registrations matters while some have expired MCs and are not aware of the procedures for MC renewal.</li> <li>- It is therefore recommended that information on Mining Rights should be made available to SSMs in the area and in vernacular languages.</li> <li>- Government should set up a Gallery for SSMs to sell their gemstones.</li> <li>- Since MC registrations is only done in Windhoek, very often they do not get assisted on time and sometimes return from Windhoek without getting any assistance. As such, several miners continue mining operations without registration papers.</li> <li>- SSMs need information on market prices because they are forced to only sell at prices offered to them.</li> </ul>
!Oe-#Gan Traditional Authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Before MCs are registered in Windhoek, there is a need to monitor the current situation onsite.</li> <li>- Some MCs are registered over areas where certain SSMs have been operating for many years. This has caused a lot of conflicts between people who have been onsite and the new MC owners.</li> <li>- There are a lot of conflicts and threats to harm others over gemstones. MME should send inspectors regularly to go and solve problems on the ground.</li> <li>- Many Claims were registered without the knowledge of the local TA. It is recommended that pegging of claims must be done in accordance with the Communal Land Act.</li> <li>- Certain Claims owners, especially foreigners, abandon their sites without rehabilitating the area. There was a case were a particular mining site in Tubussis was left with a diesel tank not properly contained. As a result, countless animals died by consuming diesel fuel.</li> </ul>
Community	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- The community would like to know where the exact borders between the communal land and the commercial land of the Tubussis area. This is because private farm owners are constantly chasing SSMs away from their mining sites which SSMs think is under the communal side.</li> <li>- Some people own claims but have not worked on them for several years.</li> <li>- Some local people own MCs with intention to sell them to foreigners. Foreigner owners/investors often exploit people and often sell gemstones abroad as raw products without adding value locally.</li> <li>- The area is filled with an abundance of natural resources, yet the local communities are still poor because they are not benefiting explicitly from these resources. This needs to change.</li> </ul>

2.2 Issues received through emails and telephone communications.

Issues Raised \By	Issues and Concerns Raised
Erongo Region Small-scale Miners Association (ERSMA)	- Small-scale miners need assistance in terms of machineries and equipment so that they can operate efficiently and make profit.
MC holder	- The process of registering MC is too slow. Certain MC holders have been waiting for three years and they do not know what is causing the backlog.

2.3 Issues raised during the public Meeting

The public meeting was held on the 01 October 2020 at the Community Hall in Tubussis.

Issues Raised By	Issues and Concerns Raised
Attendees	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Many people started pegging claims without informing the local TA.</li> <li>- People are fighting over claims, MME should send Inspectors to go and solve the ongoing conflicts.</li> <li>- Some people also drill boreholes in the area without notifying the local community. Some boreholes are very close to the settlements while some are not even productive.</li> <li>- Some boreholes have been abandoned and not rehabilitated. This poses serious risks to people and animal.</li> <li>- To avoid such problems, TA should be informed about all boreholes drilled in the area.</li> <li>- Tubussis area need assistance with borehole drilling. The Namibia-German Special Programme (NGPS) by GIZ which supports community with borehole drilling is not implemented in the area.</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- SSMs should try to rehabilitate the damaged areas after mining operations.</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- There are many unmarked places of archeological importance in the area. SSMs should not temper with such materials but should report them to the relevant office.</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Claim Registration is only done in Windhoek. It always takes time to finalize the registrations or to get assistance.</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- There are also too many problems on the ground but MME inspectors hardly come to the site and solve these problems.</li> </ul>
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Why can't SSMs get assistance from the Swakopmund MME office?</li> </ul>

3. CONCLUSION

The consultant took note of the recommendations and comments made by various parties. All issues and recommendations were forwarded to various relevant institutions for consideration and were incorporated in the Scoping report.

Low budget hampers agricultural development – Remmert

■ Maihapa Ndjavera

The main national-level issue that relates to policymaking and budgetary allocation is the fact that the agricultural sector does not attract enough investment nor has it received adequate government funding.

The Research Associate at the Institute for Public Policy Research (IPPR), Dietrich Remmert, stated that these issues have hampered the development of the agricultural sector for a considerable time and reflect a consistently small annual budget allocation to the Ministry of Agriculture, Water, and Land Reform.

According to Remmert, over the past years, government has increasingly allocated lower amounts of funding to the ministry, totalling on average just slightly over 4% per annum from 2012/13 to 2018/19.

Furthermore, he noted that investment in agriculture is weak having remained fairly constant since Independence. Consequently, the overall economic performance of the sector has declined since Independence with regards to the overall contribution to the country's GDP.

"Policymakers and government officials have for years maintained that agriculture possesses the potential to significantly contribute to national wealth, job creation, and food security. Namibia's leaders have also placed significant emphasis on sustainable natural resource management and conservation. This compels government and stakeholders in the agricultural sector to consider and adopt agricultural methods that both enhance production as well as protect and conserve the natural environment," elaborated Remmert.

Time to reap... Conservancy agriculture needs to be practised for Namibia to start reaping benefits. Photo: Contributed

He noted that it is time to reap benefits from the method known as conservancy agriculture (CA) in Namibia. MAWF defines CA as: "An approach to managing agro-ecosystems for improved and sustained productivity, increased profits and food security while preserving and enhancing the resource base and the environment."

NDP5 lists several ambitious agricultural sector targets to be achieved by various strategies. Among others, the plan states that by 2022, a minimum of 50% of farmers should practice CA. CA is also prioritised as one method to improve sustainable land management to conserve and sustainably make use of natural resources.

Remmert said as a sustainable agricultural method, CA has struggled to take hold in the country even after a decade and a half of promotion and support programmes.

"Available literature shows that local CA projects face implementation and funding issues in addition to a range of technical and social barriers. Moreover, Namibia's experience with CA is not isolated as the Southern African region, in general, has struggled to adopt and advance this agricultural method," he stated.

CA's usefulness for an arid and food-insecure country like Namibia is not in dispute. However, it is also evident that CA requires significant resources, promotion, and funding to ensure more widespread adoption. Also, national policies and strategies need to take into account barriers to adoption and actively seek to address them.

Remmert said the agriculture ministry has acknowledged that the successful adoption of CA by farmers requires a range of additional factors such as a market for cover crops. CA was therefore characterised as a long-term investment.

He outlined that there is limited documentation available that critically evaluates past and current CA programmes in the country. Remmert advised that Namibia should carry out a comprehensive stocktaking exercise to determine the exact status of CA in the country.

"It is evident that the government would need to increase budget allocations to the agricultural sector and CA initiatives to realise ambitious national agricultural targets.

Alternatively, donor and commercial interests could advance CA but this would require more commitment from donor organisations and a more conducive investment climate for private businesses," recommended Remmert.

He further said Namibian stakeholders should explore the promotion of CA to larger smallholding operations and commercial farms as these have access to more resources and could practice the method on a greater scale. - mndjavera@nepc.com.na

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT (EIA) AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT PLANS FOR TUBUSSIS AND XOBXOBOS SMALL-SCALE MINING HOTSPOTS IN ERONGO REGION

Notice is hereby given to all potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) and relevant stakeholders, that applications for Environmental Clearance Certificates (ECCs) will be submitted to the Ministry of Environment, Forestry and Tourism (MEFT) for the following activities.

Activities: Small Scale Mining (SSM)

Location: Farm Tubussis and Farm Xobxobos, Erongo Region

Proponent: Ministry of Mines and Energy (MME)

Description: The two mining hotspots consist of mining claims which are owned and operated by individuals and/or groups. The mining activities mainly include artisanal and semi-mechanized methods which are used in extracting a wide range of gemstones. Although the mining activities have been taking place for many years in these areas, this has been done in the absence of Environmental Management Plans (EMPs) and Environmental Clearance Certificates. However, in terms of the Environment Management Act (Act No 7 of 2007), and the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Regulations of 2012, all mining and quarrying activities require EIAs to be undertaken. In order to facilitate the development of EMPs, and subsequent issuance of ECCs by the Environmental Commissioner, MME is assisting Small-Scale Miners in the two mining hotspots to comply with the statutory requirements.

All potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) are hereby invited to register, request for the Background Information Document (BID) and submit comments/inputs to jkondja@gmail.com. Public meetings are scheduled to take place as follow:

ECN briefs parties on nomination process

■ Kuzeeko Tjitemisa

Nomination and submission of candidates by political parties for the November regional and local authority elections will officially start today, the Electoral Commission of Namibia (ECN) confirmed yesterday.

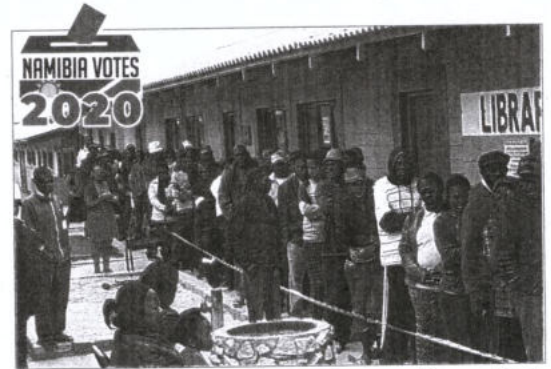

In November, Namibians are heading to the polls to elect new regional council and local authority leaders despite fears of the global coronavirus crisis that is testing the world's democracies in myriad ways.

Political parties, organisations and associations have until 16 October, while independent candidates have until 14 October to submit the names of their candidates to the ECN.

ECN's Chief Electoral and Referenda Officer Theo Mujoro yesterday held a meeting with candidates, political parties, organisations and associations where he briefed them on the nomination process, including legal requirements, procedures and arrangements.

He told those in attendance that the signing of the code of conduct for political parties, organisation and candidates is set for 8 October, while the verification and signing of sample ballot papers by political parties, associations and independent candidates are set for 2 November.

He said the central elections results centre, the management system and processes, as well as the briefing on final logistic arrangements dates will be communicated to them.

Sioka calls for child-friendly justice system

Despite the adoption of laws that are specific to children by African governments and the considerable investment into their protection, scores of children are still unable to access or benefit from child-friendly justice systems in a meaningful way.

This was said by Minister of Gender Equality, Poverty Eradication and Social Welfare in a statement to mark the commemoration of the Day of the Namibian Child yesterday.

This year's commemoration is held under the theme 'Access to Child-friendly Justice in Namibia during the Covid-19 pandemic' and reflects on the challenges faced by children who find themselves in conflict with the law.

Sioka, in the joint statement with Unicef, availed to Nampa, said a child-friendly justice system will ensure the best interests of the child are given primary consideration.

"A child-friendly justice system should be a system that better serves and protects all children irrespective of their socio-economic or cultural backgrounds," said Sioka.

The Namibian government's commitment to building a child-friendly justice system, the minister said, is evidenced through the enactment of the Child Care and Protection Act (Act No. 3 of 2015) that recognises fundamental principles of a child-friendly justice system.

The Act is in line with the Convention of the Rights of the Child and the African Charter on the Rights and Welfare of Children and has resulted in various capacity development exercises of all key government officials to ensure the fundamental principles of a child-friendly justice system in the Act are adhered to.

Unicef Representative to Namibia Rachel Odede said when a child is believed to have committed a crime, the way the justice system responds can have a lifelong impact that will be either positive or negative.

"Following the principles established by the Convention on the Rights of a Child, we need to treat children with care, sensitivity and respect throughout any procedure or case, with special attention for their wellbeing and needs, and with full respect for their physical and psychological integrity, irrespective of their capacity or legal status.

This calls for our individual and collective effort, especially during emergencies such as the current Covid-19 pandemic," Odede said.

She further said to address some of these challenges, in line with the implementation of the Child Care and Protection Act, the Namibian Police Force, in partnership with the Ministry of Justice, together with ministry of gender equality, embarked on a training for law enforcement officials, aimed at equipping them, as well as other officials in their response to child protection issues, particularly during the Covid-19 pandemic. - Nampa

Virus infiltrates Oshakati police holding cells

■ Nuusita Ashipala

ONGWEDIVA - The Ministry of Health and Social Services was yesterday expected to continue with its targeted mass testing at the Oshakati police holding cells after 33 more inmates tested positive for Covid-19 this past weekend.

The police station commander, Chief Inspector Allo Matheus said 133 inmates were waiting to be tested.

The cells currently house 180 inmates. "Arrangements were done and we are expecting the ministry of health to conduct more tests amongst the inmates, as well as the officials who are working with the inmates," said Matheus.

By yesterday, 34 inmates and two police officials had tested positive for Covid-19.

About 13 inmates who were previously tested are still waiting for results, Matheus said.

To curb the further spread of the virus, the inmates who have tested positive and whose results are still pending have been isolated.

"When we get the results, we instantly separate the inmates from the rest who tested positive, while arrangements are being done to isolate them completely," said Matheus.

Like many other cells in the country, Matheus said Oshakati is also overcrowded.

A week ago, New Era reported that an inmate at Oshakati had tested positive for Covid-19.

The inmate, who is on trial for murder at Oshakati High Court, tested positive on 17 September 2020.

The inmate was allegedly transported from Rundu to Oshakati on 5 September 2020.

He was swabbed earlier this month and his results came out positive on 17 September.

The Eenhana police holding cells were last week also placed under quarantine after 19 inmates there tested positive.

The regional commander, Commissioner Elizabeth Sibolile, said the cases might have infiltrated the cells after two inmates were taken for treatment at a local hospital.

Notice is hereby given to all potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) and relevant stakeholders, that applications for Environmental Clearance Certificates (ECCs) will be submitted to the Ministry of Environment, Forestry and Tourism (MEFT) for the following activities.
