ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT (EIA) STUDY AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT PLAN (EMP) FOR GOBOBOSEB SMALL-SCALE MINING HOTSPOTS IN ERONGO REGION

Issues Raised at the Farm Goboboseb Small-scale Mining Hotspot

Prepared For:

Ministry of Mines and Energy

Windhoek

October 2020

1. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

1.1 Introduction

The study was subjected to a Public Participation Process (PPP) as defined in the Environmental Management Act, No. 07 of 2007 and EIA Regulations of February 2012.

1.2 Approach to the Public Participation Process

a) Site visits

The consultant conducted a site visit to the mining hotspots and interviewed Small-scale Miners (SSMs) that were found onsite. The consultant also interviewed the officials from the Uis settlement office as well as some gemstone traders along the Henties Bay-Uis road.

b) Stakeholders consultations

Stakeholders such as Government Ministries, Daures Constituency Councilor, Erongo Regional Council, Tsizeb Conservancy, National Heritage Council, Daure Daman Traditional Authority (TA), Namibia Association of Community Based Natural Resource Management (NACSO) and the Erongo Region Small-scale Miners Association (ERSMA), were informed about the study through notification letters that were sent to them.

c) Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs)

Potential Interested and Affected Parties were invited to register through newspaper advertisements that were published in two (2) local newspapers: New Era (24 & 29 September 2020), and The Namibian (25 & 29 September 2020). Stakeholders and I&APs were invited to the consultative meeting which was held on the 29 September 2020 at the Uis Community hall at 14:30.

The consultation period commenced on the 24th September 2020 and ended on the 14th October 2020. This allowed a 21-day period for submitting comments as outlined in Section 3.4 (11) of the EIA Regulations of February 2012. The aim of these consultations was to introduce the study to the relevant stakeholders and I&APs to solicit inputs.

1.3 Purpose of the IRR

The purpose of this report is to provide a summary of inputs, comments and questions that were received from the relevant stakeholders, as well as from the I&APs. These issues were incorporated in the Environmental Scoping report and the Environmental Management Plan (EMP).

2. ISSUES RAISED DURING THE CONSULTATION PERIOD

2.1 Issues raised during site visits

Issues Raised By	Issues and Concerns Raised
SSMs	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - SSMs experience problems with transporting gemstones. The Police normally confiscate their gemstones if they are not accompanied with a transport permit. Such permits can only be obtained in Windhoek. It is therefore recommended that Transport Permit be made locally available to SSMs i.e., at the local Police stations or Councilor's Office. - SSMs have problems accessing international markets. The government is requested to link SSMs to the best international markets, so they can sell their products at the best prices. - International tourists usually give local gemstones i.e., amethyst different names from the local names when exporting it. - Due to the lack of market information, SSMs are forced to be price takers and often sell at prices below the market value. - It is recommended for the government to do research on the end-use of gemstones. - The government should consider setting up a gallery for SSMs to sell their gemstones - There is a lot of conflicts in the area over Mining Claims (MCs) and the Ministry of Mines and Energy (MME) does not always react on time. - One of the SSMs has a MC registered under his name and obtained an ECC for this MC, but there is someone else mining on that Claim without legit MC registration papers. The matter has been reported to MME, but nothing has been done yet. - The owner of the disputed MC wants to know why can't MME stop the person from mining while the matter is being resolved? and Why is it taking so long for MME to act on this matter? - SSMs often find it difficult to travel back and forth to Windhoek to finalize MC registration process and sometimes when they travel to Windhoek, the person who should assist them is not in the office and this result in time & finances wasted. - There is a lot ongoing conflicts in the area regarding MCs ownership. MME should send inspectors regularly and solve these problems before they escalate.
Daure Daman Traditional Authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Countless MCs were registered without the knowledge of the TA. It is recommended that pegging of MCs must be strictly done in accordance with the Section 36 of the Minerals (Prospecting and Mining) Act of 1992 and the Communal Land Act of 2005.

2.2 Issues received through emails and telephone communications

Issues Raised By	Issues and Concerns Raised
Erongo Region Small-scale Miners Association (ERSMA)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - SSMS need assistance with machineries and equipment so that they can operate efficiently and make profits.
MC holder	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - One of the SSMS was in the process of pegging a Claim but while he was looking for a GPS to take coordinates, some fellow miners went to the site and started putting marks on the same area. He wants to know if this is right and what should he do to avoid conflicts?
Tsiseb Conservancy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The small-scale mining activities should not interfere with the migration of Black Rhinos in the area, especially when they are moving from their natural habitats to the water point.
National Heritage Council (NHC)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - NHC would like to notify you that Erongo Region hosts an extensive wealth of heritage resources, amongst others; hundreds of archaeological sites (documented and undocumented). About 900 sites are documented in the Brandberg which is in proximity with Xoboxobos mining hotspot. - It is therefore against this background that the NHC recommends that the proponent be compelled to appoint a person with appropriate professional qualifications and/ or experience to conduct heritage impact assessment study of this area. A site-specific Heritage Impact Assessment should provide NHC with enough information to understand the impact of these activities on the significance of the heritage resources in these areas.

2.3 Issues raised during the public Meeting

The public meeting was held at the Community Hall in Uis on the 29 September 2020. The attendance register is provided under the appendix E.

Issues Raised By	Issues and Concerns Raised
Daure Daman Traditional Authority	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Some SSMs, especially the semi-mechanized miners have established permanent residents in the area without approval from the TA and some also keep domestic animals at their temporary camps. - Many people started pegging claims without informing the TA. - SSMs should be informed that, no one should peg MCs or establish permanent structures in the area without approval from the TA. - Some SSMs do blasting very close to villages. This should not be allowed as it is very dangerous. - SSMs should also try to rehabilitate the damaged areas after mining
Attendees	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Since the registration of claims is only done in Windhoek. It always takes time to finalize the registrations or to get assistance. Why can't the Mining Claims registrations be done at MME office in Swakopmund? - There are many places of archeological importance in the area, some are marked, and some are not. SSMs should not temper with such areas/places but should report them to the relevant office. - How are SSM protected from EPLs and well-off claim owners? - One of the SSMs has a MC with abundance of Welwitschia plant, He wanted to know the importance of this plant? - SSMs started an association sometime back called "Goboboseb Miners Association". The initial name of this organization and its mandate has been changed without the SSMs' knowledge. - SSMs are requesting that MME inspectors should conduct regular inspections in the area and give assistance to SSMs.

3. CONCLUSION

The consultant took note of the recommendations and comments made by various parties. Questions and recommendations were forwarded to various relevant institutions for considerations and all issues were incorporated in the scoping report.

Low budget hampers agricultural development – Remmert

■ Maihapa Ndjavera

The main national-level issue that relates to policymaking and budgetary allocation is the fact that the agricultural sector does not attract enough investment nor has it received adequate government funding.

The Research Associate at the Institute for Public Policy Research (IPPR), Dietrich Remmert, stated that these issues have hampered the development of the agricultural sector for a considerable time and reflect a consistently small annual budget allocation to the Ministry of Agriculture, Water, and Land Reform.

According to Remmert, over the past years, government has increasingly allocated lower amounts of funding to the ministry, totalling on average just slightly over 4% per annum from 2012/13 to 2018/19.

Furthermore, he noted that investment in agriculture is weak having remained fairly constant since Independence. Consequently, the overall economic performance of the sector has declined since Independence with regards to the overall contribution to the country's GDP.

"Policymakers and government officials have for years maintained that agriculture possesses the potential to significantly contribute to national wealth, job creation, and food security. Namibia's leaders have also placed significant emphasis on sustainable natural resource management and conservation. This compels government and stakeholders in the agricultural sector to consider and adopt agricultural methods that both enhance production as well as protect and conserve the natural environment," elaborated Remmert.

Time to reap... Conservancy agriculture needs to be practised for Namibia to start reaping benefits. Photo: Contributed

He noted that it is time to reap benefits from the method known as conservancy agriculture (CA) in Namibia. MAWF defines CA as: "An approach to managing agro-ecosystems for improved and sustained productivity, increased profits and food security while preserving and enhancing the resource base and the environment."

NDP5 lists several ambitious agricultural sector targets to be achieved by various strategies. Among others, the plan states that by 2022, a minimum of 50% of farmers should practice CA. CA is also prioritised as one method to improve sustainable land management to conserve and sustainably make use of natural resources.

Remmert said as a sustainable agricultural method, CA has struggled to take hold in the country even after a decade and a half of promotion and support programmes.

"Available literature shows that local CA projects face implementation and funding issues in addition to a range of technical and social barriers. Moreover, Namibia's experience with CA is not isolated as the Southern African region, in general, has struggled to adopt and advance this agricultural method," he stated.

CA's usefulness for an arid and food-insecure country like Namibia is not in dispute. However, it is also evident that CA requires significant resources, promotion, and funding to ensure more widespread adoption. Also, national policies and strategies need to take into account barriers to adoption and actively seek to address them.

Remmert said the agriculture ministry has acknowledged that the successful adoption of CA by farmers requires a range of additional factors such as a market for cover crops. CA was therefore characterised as a long-term investment.

He outlined that there is limited documentation available that critically evaluates past and current CA programmes in the country. Remmert advised that Namibia should carry out a comprehensive stocktaking exercise to determine the exact status of CA in the country.

"It is evident that the government would need to increase budget allocations to the agricultural sector and CA initiatives to realise ambitious national agricultural targets.

Alternatively, donor and commercial interests could advance CA but this would require more commitment from donor organisations and a more conducive investment climate for private businesses," recommended Remmert.

He further said Namibian stakeholders should explore the promotion of CA to larger smallholding operations and commercial farms as these have access to more resources and could practice the method on a greater scale. - mndjavera@nepc.com.na

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT ASSESSMENT (EIA) AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT PLANS FOR TUBUSSIS AND XOBXOBOS SMALL-SCALE MINING HOTSPOTS IN ERONGO REGION

Notice is hereby given to all potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) and relevant stakeholders, that applications for Environmental Clearance Certificates (ECCs) will be submitted to the Ministry of Environment, Forestry and Tourism (MEFT) for the following activities.

Activities: Small Scale Mining (SSM)

Location: Farm Tubussis and Farm Xobxobos, Erongo Region

Proponent: Ministry of Mines and Energy (MME)

Description: The two mining hotspots consist of mining claims which are owned and operated by individuals and/or groups. The mining activities mainly include artisanal and semi-mechanized methods which are used in extracting a wide range of gemstones. Although the mining activities have been taking place for many years in these areas, this has been done in the absence of Environmental Management Plans (EMPs) and Environmental Clearance Certificates. However, in terms of the Environmental Management Act (Act No 7 of 2007), and the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Regulations of 2012, all mining and quarrying activities require EIAs to be undertaken. In order to facilitate the development of EMPs, and subsequent issuance of ECCs by the Environmental Commissioner, MME is assisting Small-Scale Miners in the two mining hotspots to comply with the statutory requirements.

All potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) are hereby invited to register, request for the Background Information Document (BID) and submit comments/inputs to jkondja@gmail.com. Public meetings are scheduled to take place as follows:

For Xobxobos Venue: Community Hall, Us Date: 30 September 2020 Time: 14:30	For Tubussis Venue: Community Hall, Tubussis Date: 01 October 2020 Time: 14:30

Notice is hereby given to all potential Interested and Affected Parties (I&APs) and relevant stakeholders, that applications for Environmental Clearance Certificates (ECCs) will be submitted to the Ministry of Environment, Forestry and Tourism (MEFT) for the following activities.

ECN briefs parties on nomination process

■ Kuzeeko Tjitemisa

Nomination and submission of candidates by political parties for the November regional and local authority elections will officially start today, the Electoral Commission of Namibia (ECN) confirmed yesterday.

In November, Namibians are heading to the polls to elect new regional council and local authority leaders despite fears of the global coronavirus crisis that is testing the world's democracies in myriad ways.

Political parties, organisations and associations have until 16 October, while independent candidates have until 14 October to submit the names of their candidates to the ECN.

ECN's Chief Electoral and Referenda Officer Theo Mujoro yesterday held a meeting with candidates, political parties, organisations and associations where he briefed them on the nomination process, including legal requirements, procedures and arrangements.

He told those in attendance that the signing of the code of conduct for political parties, organisation and candidates is set for 8 October, while the verification and signing of sample ballot papers by political parties, associations and independent candidates are set for 2 November.

He said the central elections results centre, the management system and processes, as well as the briefing on final logistic arrangements dates will be communicated to them.

Sioka calls for child-friendly justice system

Despite the adoption of laws that are specific to children by African governments and the considerable investment into their protection, scores of children are still unable to access or benefit from child-friendly justice systems in a meaningful way.

This was said by Minister of Gender Equality, Poverty Eradication and Social Welfare in a statement to mark the commemoration of the Day of the Namibian Child yesterday.

This year's commemoration is held under the theme 'Access to Child-friendly Justice in Namibia during the Covid-19 pandemic' and reflects on the challenges faced by children who find themselves in conflict with the law.

Sioka, in the joint statement with Unicef, availed to Nampa, said a child-friendly justice system will ensure the best interests of the child are given primary consideration.

"A child-friendly justice system should be a system that better serves and protects all children irrespective of their socio-economic or cultural backgrounds," said Sioka.

The Namibian government's commitment to building a child-friendly justice system, the minister said, is evidenced through the enactment of the Child Care and Protection Act (Act No. 3 of 2015) that recognises fundamental principles of a child-friendly justice system.

The Act is in line with the Convention of the Rights on the Child and the African Charter on the Rights and Welfare of Children and has resulted in various capacity development exercises of all key government officials to ensure the fundamental principles of a child-friendly justice system in the Act are adhered to.

Unicef Representative to Namibia Rachel Odede said when a child is believed to have committed a crime, the way the justice system responds can have a lifelong impact that will be either positive or negative.

"Following the principles established by the Convention on the Rights of a Child, we need to treat children with care, sensitivity and respect throughout any procedure or case, with special attention for their wellbeing and needs, and with full respect for their physical and psychological integrity, irrespective of their capacity or legal status.

This calls for our individual and collective effort, especially during emergencies such as the current Covid-19 pandemic," Odede said.

She further said to address some of these challenges, in line with the implementation of the Child Care and Protection Act, the Namibian Police Force, in partnership with the Ministry of Justice, together with ministry of gender equality, embarked on a training for law enforcement officials, aimed at equipping them, as well as other officials in their response to child protection issues, particularly during the Covid-19 pandemic. - Nampa

Virus infiltrates Oshakati police holding cells

■ Nuusita Ashipala

ONGWEDIVA – The Ministry of Health and Social Services was yesterday expected to continue with its targeted mass testing at the Oshakati police holding cells after 33 more inmates tested positive for Covid-19 this past weekend.

The police station commander, Chief Inspector Allo Matheus said 133 inmates were waiting to be tested.

The cells currently house 180 inmates. "Arrangements were done and we are expecting the ministry of health to conduct more tests amongst the inmates, as well as the officials who are working with the inmates," said Matheus.

By yesterday, 34 inmates and two police officials had tested positive for Covid-19.

About 13 inmates who were previously tested are still waiting for results, Matheus said.

To curb the further spread of the virus, the inmates who have tested positive and those whose results are still pending have been isolated.

"When we get the results, we instantly separate the inmates from the rest who tested positive, while arrangements are being done to isolate them completely," said Matheus.

Like many other cells in the country, Matheus said Oshakati is also overcrowded.

A week ago, New Era reported that an inmate at Oshakati had tested positive for Covid-19.

The inmate, who is on trial for murder at Oshakati High Court, tested positive on 17 September 2020.

The inmate was allegedly transported from Rundu to Oshakati on 5 September 2020.

He was swabbed earlier this month and his results came out positive on 17 September.

The Enhana police holding cells were last week also placed under quarantine after 19 inmates there tested positive.

The regional commander, Commissioner Elizabeth Sibolle, said the cases might have infiltrated the cells after two inmates were taken for treatment at a local hospital.
