Are we required to move our farms?	At this stage, it's only exploration activities with an attempt to discover any minerals to be mined for commercial purposes. If minerals are found, another ECC application and EIA process will be conducted for the Mining License and assess only the specific area to be mined.
Thank you for sharing the information.	Noted.
Is this company part of B2Gold because we also had people from B2Gold contacting us about the area.	No, this is different from B2Gold and it is a different company.
We understand that this area is already known for mining since there is B2Gold located just next to this EPL and therefore I don't think there is anything much we can do.	Though there is already B2Gold, environmental consideration and potential impacts still have to be considered and assessed in order to minimize these impacts which could affect people, animals, water quality and plants in the area, hence this EIA process.
You should bear in mind that most of these farms are resettlement farms and some of the owners are not always on	Noted. We have gone as far as contacting the Farmer's Union to share information with the local farmers and shared our details with farmers that could not be available. We have telephonically contacted those not available to share the information. The farmer's Union has been of much the farms and could possibly not receive the information.
