Ronaldo is Man Utd's Jordan, says Solskjaer after latest rescue act

Ole Gunnar Solskjaer has compared Cristiano Ronaldo to Michael Jordan after he scored twice in an eye-opening 2-2 draw at Aston Villa on Tuesday.

In the 11th of three in four Champions League games since returning for a second spell at Old Trafford, Solskjaer scored United with a late goal as his only strike to help the 11 strikers watched a barely deserved point in England.

The 36-year-old also scored his winners at home to Middlesbrough and Aston Villa, when United came from 2-0 down into 3-2 wins on goals.

However, a further dip in goalkeeping helped out by Ronaldo's brilliant finishing will do little to ease the pressure on United's second striker.

"Ronaldo is one of the best that's ever played this game. I'm sure this is the same feeling Chicago Bulls' great Mike Jordan," said Solskjaer, referring to the Arsenal captain who has won a 2011 AFA title in two spells with the club.

"If you want the ball to fall to someone in the last minute, Cristiano is the one. He's done it so many times for us and I'm sure he'll find another way to score for us."

Ronaldo's double took his past 10 goals to 126 for the club.

Solskjaer's outfit also took three to a 3-0 win at Norwich on Saturday, matched to some exceptional defensive solidity after a 4-0 rout of 3-Etihad against home to Liverpool.

However, that was just the end. David de Gea has been one of United's best performers of a desperately disappointing season so far, but he was at fault as he let Jordan Pickershot get an unlikely body goal over the bar.

with before being set off by a brilliant strike by Kai Havertz.

United suffered a further blow when Sergio Reguilon was forced off midway through the first half with what appeared the recurrence of a groin injury.

However, the individual quality in the United squad was more than enough to lift the reds over a half of a game.

It was Cristiano Ronaldo who played in three occasions, who played out Ronaldo with a backheel for the Portuguese to blast home his eighth goal in 11 games since returning to Old Trafford in August.

But United have only won five of those games as Solskjaer still tries to struggle to find the right balance between attack and defence.

The offside flag initially came to United's rescue when Sergio Reguilon found the net 11 minutes into the second period.

After a review that ruled over the incident, the goal was disallowed in celebration of the goal was given.

Despite being started off well for the majority of the second-half, Ronaldo returned again to stoppage time.

Given the club's need for the ball, the first-time keeper was not the best in the last 10 minutes.

United were left a late chance to win all three points as he had set up Diego Costa from a free kick which was headed by James McArthur.

But a goal that is enough to keep them ahead of Villarreal at the top of Group F on the 10th has been cancelled by the referee's hand to the referee.

At least we're not going further back with the game's final ring.

Conte arrival has raised expectations at Spurs - Lloris

Tottenham Hotspur's players have a great opportunity to work under new manager Antonio Conte but the Italian's arrival means expectations have been raised even higher at their club, captain Hugo Lloris said.

Conte, who has previously managed Arsenal, Chelsea and Inter Milan, as well as the Italy national team, was expected to replace Marco Caputo Simeoni after the Portuguese was fired after 17 matches in charge.

"It is very exciting and believe in all the players in the dressing room," Lloris said on Wednesday. "It is a great opportunity to work under one of the greatest managers of the last few years."

Conte has won with Spurs twice in the Premier League on 32 points after 38 games, the highest of any manager.

"Now is not the time for words. It is time to work," said Lloris. "It is time to believe again in ourselves, our team and our club... Tottenham, with Antonio Conte, there will be even more expectations."

"One game, it doesn't matter but people say it does. The most important is what is going on inside the changing rooms, inside the building. There is a shift on in the club. We all need to recommit to the project and the fans. That is important."

Conte's first game in charge will be Spurs's home match against Dutch club Vitesse in the Europa Conference League.

Manchester United's Varane ruled out for a month

Manchester United have revealed Raphael Varane will be ruled out for up to a month after suffering a hamstring injury, adding to the French defender's troubled start at Old Trafford.

Varane was forced off his debut for Manchester United in a 1-1 draw at Arsenal in the Champions League on Tuesday.

The 29-year-old had only just returned to the United side in Saturday's win over Arsenal in the Premier League but he was ruled out for a further week after suffering a hamstring injury, which is expected to keep him out of action for around a month," United said in a statement. "We'd like to wish Raphael all the best as he works on his recovery."

Varane's absence is a major blow for United, who have struggled to win only five of their 18 matches in all competitions and after Varane left the pitch on Tuesday needed a late equaliser from Cristiano Ronaldo to secure a 2-2 draw against Arsenal in the opening of their campaign of qualifying for the Champions League next season.

United have scored 13 goals in their last five matches in all competitions and after Varane left the pitch on Tuesday needed a late equaliser from Cristiano Ronaldo to secure a 2-2 draw against Arsenal in the opening of their campaign of qualifying for the Champions League next season.

After the forthcoming international break, the October 30 fixtures are scheduled to be Arsenal, Villarreal and Chelsea before the rest of November.
