The Pangolin Conservation and Research Foundation was able to release another pangolin that was seized last week. "Fortunately, the animal was in such good condition that the team dropped everything to rush to her and make sure she could be released immediately." The animal weighed a healthy 10.25 kg and was estimated to be between 5 and 10 years old based on the size and wear pattern of its scales. The foundation would like to thank the Ministry of Environment and the police, who are working tirelessly to rescue pangolins from the trade.
