Rhinoceros found dead in Otjozondjupa

Maria David

THE Namibian Police Force (NamPol) in the Otjozondjupa Region is investigating a case of rhino poaching after four rhinoceroses were found decomposed near the Osire resettlement in the Otjiwarongo area.

This was confirmed by Otjozondjupa Senior Inspector Maureen Mbeha, stating that the incident occurred on Friday.

According to Mbeha, it was reported that vultures were detected in a camp where rhinoceroses are kept, prompting the farm workers to investigate what the vultures were preying on.

"The farm workers discovered four white rhinoceroses dead and in a decomposed state," she said.

She added that the rhinoceroses are suspected to have been hunted with a rifle as they had bullet wounds and one.

Furthermore, Mbeha indicated that spent cartridges were found at the scene after preliminary investigations were conducted.

No suspects have been arrested so far, and police investigations into the matter continue.
