

ED Mnangagwa Son, Kudakwashe Implicated in Poaching Scandal

May 16, 2020 | Zim Latest

Anern
No Electric Bill !
10KW~200KW
One-Stop Solution
 www.Anern.net

TOP HEADLINES

Spencer Banda Sex Scandal: Sodbury students say he raped young virgin girls

Angry wife shares shocking pictures of cheating husband bedding married women

Anger over shocking pictures of Sodbury School owned by Spencer Banda

Leadership Headaches for ED as new Zanu PF Faction Emerges

Zanu PF Demands EU, US Apology as Govt Dismisses MDC Abduction reports

Valley Conservancy, Chiredzi, located in the south-eastern part of the country.

Legal representative of the Nyangambe Community Wildlife Project, Farai Chauke made the allegations in his defence to the fraud charges he is facing for allegedly forging title deeds to the project, which is run by Nyangambe villagers. Chauke, who is a practising lawyer in the capital Harare, also hails from the Nyangambe area.

He told the court that he is being tormented because he has been resisting poaching activities involving the Zimbabwe president's son. Kudakwashe is allegedly in the habit of coming along with Philip Mafuta, one of the directors of Green Africa Safaris to hunt and poach wildlife outside hunting quotas.

Green Africa Safaris is understood to have used its political connections to have signed a one-year hunting lease agreement with Nyangambe Community Wildlife Project.

According to a report in the Mirror, Mafuta confirmed that he regularly goes for hunting with the president's son in the Save Valley Conservancy, amid allegations of rampant poaching in the conservancy. Justifying his connections to the Mhangagwas, Mafuta said he is an in-law to one of Zion Christian Church Bishop Nehemiah Mutendi's brothers.

The ZCC leader is a prominent backer of the Zimbabwe strongman and prior to the 2018 elections, Mutendi endorsed Mhangagwa ahead of opposition MDC Alliance leader Nelson Chamisa.

Meanwhile, Marufu who contends that their hunting activities are legal as there was a binding agreement, has warned Chauke that he will be in trouble after he implicated the president's son in the poaching activities.

"Zvaaita izvozvo zvichatomunyudza. Chauke is ignorant of the law. Our activities in Nyangambe are lawful according to the Parks and Wildlife Act. We are allowed to undertake hunting activities since we have a hunting permit at Nyangambe," the Mirror quoted Marufu as saying.

"I can confirm that I used to hunt with the president's son since we are related, I am part of that family. So, there is nothing that can stop us from working together," he said.

Chauke was remanded out of custody for continuation of the case after appearing before Chiredzi magistrate Mutsoto.

mirror

Additional Reporting: Zwnews

Share this:

Get Exclusive News From ZwNews.com, enter your email address

Enter your email address:

SUBSCRIBE

-Breaking News When It Happens-

VIDEO..Mnangagwa agents "abduct MDC MPs," force them to eat human excreta: Opposition

More trouble for Zim as RBZ introduces higher denomination banknotes

PICTURES: Minister Mupfumira's relative caught pants down...as hubby toils in SA

LATEST: UK based Zimbabwean nurse dies from coronavirus

PICTURES: Tortured MDC youth leaders.. "The dirty work of ED CIO hitman Owen Mudha Ncube"

FOLLOW US ON FACEBOOK

FOLLOW ON TWITTER

